

Sustainable business at Corus

Conclusion

We are all stakeholders in how well steel is used and recycled.

Corus creates policies and operates plans to use steel in a sustainable way. Government and supermarkets are working together to create the recycling facilities but we as consumers play a vital role in the steel cycle.

The steel packaging we put in can banks or kerbside recycling boxes are recycled over and over again without any loss of quality. If we behave in a responsible way with this, we can make an important contribution to sustainability.