

The business of nuclear decommissioning

Conclusion

The future of energy in this country affects us all. It is a major concern for businesses, consumers, the government and local communities.

Currently the government is investigating the future of energy supply in this country including nuclear energy. In the meantime the government must make sure that all the old nuclear sites in this country are decommissioned.

This must be done in a transparent and clean way. The NDA is the body responsible for creating the plan for this.